THE DANGER OF FUMES

Cold weather always brings its toll in deaths and severe illness resultant from carbon monoxide fumes. This year has been no exception, and unless greater care is taken we may look for more before the warm weather opens car and truck windows and takes the ice-caps off chimneys.

Carbon-monoxide is an ever present danger in home and car... easily avoided... but at the same time ready to attack those who fail or refuse to take the precautions so often pointed out as necessary.

It appears that there is little danger of carbon-monoxide poisoning in a car or truck which is in motion and in which the whole system of exhaust manifolds, pipes and muffler are in good mechanical condition, properly fitted with gaskets, and tightly clamped. However, the lack of any one of these precautions can well lay the motorist open to the dangers of the insidious gas. One of the features of this gas which make it even more dangerous than otherwise, is the fact that it is completely free from odor or color. You can neither detect it by sight nor by smell. Its presence, unless accompanied by other obnoxious or visible fumes will go entirely unobserved. Moreover, it strikes without much warning. Perhaps you will feel a little drowsy, perhaps slightly affected by nausea... but frequently these symptoms only develop after the poison has obtained a firm hold, and frequently it may be too late for you to do anything about it, for before you can bring your car to a halt, or get out into the fresh air, you may have collapsed.

So, it is wise, now and always, to make sure that your chimneys are clean, your stoves, whether gas or coal, properly vented, your car or truck exhaust system in good condition... and please don't run your motor for any length of time with your vehicle stationary and your windows closed... and you in it. Running a motor too long in a closed garage can also bring about the same results.

"I know a girl who thinks her husband is simply wonderful," remarked the man.

"Ah," murmured his companion, "So you've just come from a wedding?"

ANNUAL MEETINGS

Just when and where the custom of holding annual meetings in January and February developed we are not sure, but we are quite convinced that it was not in this part of the world. Of course the cold weather cannot be accused of being the only cause of poor attendance at such meetings, but it certainly is a big feature. Even forty below should have little effect when the town bourgeois are called together to pontificate on the reports of the past year and to instruct their representatives for the coming season. However, the story is a little different when you have to drive five, ten, fifteen or more miles to do your little bit of talking. With frigid choring to do around the farmyard the extra effort necessary to attend a winter meeting is substantial, and more than most of us town "softies" would be inclined to consider.

However, we can't do much about it this year, but let's start a move to have annual meetings at a time of year when you can get to them with less effort and in greater comfort.

It is pretty hard to see why it is essential that the annual meeting tally exactly with the end of the financial year.

It's too bad that success makes failures of so many men.

SOME DARN FOOL

One of our old curler friends once said, "there's only one thing wrong with bonspiels, there's always some darn fool who wants to curl." When you realize that grown men are actually out on ice, throwing around chunks of granite, sweeping like mad, in weather that's between fifteen and forty below, according to the time of day, you will agree that without "darn fools" the manufacturers of curling brooms would face a drastic curtailment of sales.

Even the Editor, who normally considers himself as a fairly intelligent example of the human race (no comments please) is this week taking in the Bonspiel at Viking, trying to win, of all things, "a refrigerator!"

Stupid, isn't it... especially when he will be lucky if, when he completely thaws out again, he will find himself in possession of nothing more than a jack-knife.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

UNDER OUR DEMOCRACY

It may seem that comment on a civic election that happened weeks ago is overly belated. It happens however that we do not wish to discuss the fact of election so much as the methods that brought it about, for they suggest democracy at work.

One interesting point is that the mayoralty contest in Hamilton, Ont., was a real contest fought out between men who enjoyed the respect of the community that believed in their sincere desire to be of service. Too often the seekers for top office have more to gain than the community they would represent. In this case the contestants had more to offer than they had to gain, which is what our democratic process should mean, but frequently does not.

What seems of particular interest in this contest, apart from the quality of the men involved, was that each largely disregarded the customary practices of electioneering. There was less button-holing of individuals, fewer speaking engagements, when public promises are so easily overlooked or forgotten or explained away. Instead the candidates talked directly to the people through the newspapers. Their presented policies appeared over their own names, a continuing record in cold type against which all accomplishment must be judged.

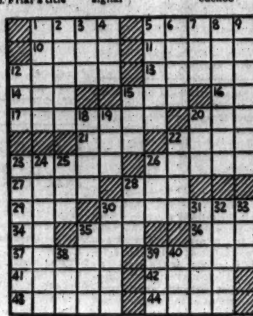

While this was true of all the contestants, it was particularly so in the case of Mr. Lloyd D. Jackson, the mayor-elect. Mr. Jackson had to meet the arguments that he had absolutely no experience in civic administration, that he was lacking in technical engineering knowledge, that he was not closely in touch with the more pressing problems facing the city. It was rather generally agreed that, because of these lacks, Mr. Jackson had a slim chance. Probably that would have been the case had he not taken these arguments into the open and discussed them frankly. In advertisements written by himself—such as that headed: "What experience do I have to have to be mayor of Hamilton?"—he took these arguments apart. He broke them up into their component parts and answered each fully and simply. He didn't promise broad and far-reaching miracles, but a few simple and definite things that anyone could understand.

That Mr. Jackson was the head of a bakery operation which he owned, along with some 500 working partners, a large percentage of whom were in daily touch with the public, probably did him much good. If it did, it also suggested to the public a generous spirit of cooperation between the man who was probably the majority stockholder and his less conspicuous partners.

But the essence of the success of this politically unknown contestant was that he took his case to the public through the press. The public read his words and assessed his arguments and every word in the city gave him a majority. That is what a good, even though, politically unknown man, who uses the right means to reach the whole people, may accomplish under our democracy.

I've Been Thinking

Do We Want Hockey?
H. G. Teskey

Wainwright has now one of the finest ice arenas to be found in any Canadian town of similar size. Some local residents were opposed to its construction from the beginning. Many think that it is much more pretentious than is necessary in such a community. Most seem to be quite satisfied and are proud of the achievement. The majority have had their way. There can be little doubt that such an arena is desirable. One has only to look in almost any skating night and note the numbers who use it, especially of children, to be convinced that it is serving a very useful purpose. An open rink could not possibly satisfy the needs of the community. We now wonder how we got along for so many years with that old makeshift affair on third avenue. Those who do not skate appreciate the opportunity of watching hockey games on a well-lighted rink, sheltered from the Alberta blizzards.

The young boys of the town have now the opportunity to play hockey as they have dreamed of since the organized leagues of Pee-Wee and Juvenile hockey players are going far toward solving many of the problems of juvenile delinquency. The enthusiasm that has accompanied the building of the arena has resulted in the sponsoring of these Junior teams by local business and social organizations. The boys, equipped with uniforms and supplied with coaches, are taking great interest in a healthful pastime. But for the arena we could not enjoy ice shows and carnivals such as were introduced last winter. It is wonderful to note the grace of a practiced figure skater; it is more wonderful when she is one of our own young ladies. What was accomplished in this line last winter in a few short weeks was really astonishing.

We now have the main part of the arena. It remains to complete it by protecting what we have with paint or stucco, to finish the construction of the waiting room, and to so operate the arena as to make it a paying concern. That we should protect an investment once made is but common sense. It need not be discussed here. The proposed waiting room is a project intimately linked with the successful financing of the rink. Hockey fans look for a heated room large enough to accommodate large numbers of people, periods and in which refreshments may be served. Many remain away from games for want of the discomfort that comes from attending.

We have made a $25,000 investment. To justify such an expenditure it is necessary that maximum use be made of the structure. The community has loyally responded to pleas for financial aid in its construction; it should not be called upon to bear the heavy expense of operating it provided some other way of raising the money can be devised. It would appear that hockey might offer the solution. Believing that intermediate hockey would attract better paying crowds than would Junior, the rink management last year decided to enter such a team in the Eastern Hockey League, with Vernon and Lloydminster. Considering the difficulty of securing suitable players from our own community and the fact that hockey enthusiasm must be developed by degrees, the financial results of the year's activities were quite satisfactory.

This winter the local Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, that has undertaken the responsibility of organizing all hockey in the town, was faced with the problem of improving the local intermediate team or of withdrawing from the league. The decision to re-enter the league was made for several reasons. First, if we are to develop a fine brand of hockey among our local boys, they must be able to see good hockey played. Second, large crowds will not attend junior games, therefore intermediate games must be held if hockey is to be used to pay a good share of the rink operating expenses. Third, it was thought that local fans wanted to witness good hockey talent.

It now remains to so efficiently manage our intermediate team that a good profit can be shown. To this end a team must be put on the ice that can win a fair share of games, for it is not a human characteristic to continue indefinitely to support a losing cause. The fans would much prefer to see a team of all local boys play, it greatly adds to the interest one takes in the game to personally know the players. But Wainwright cannot possibly supply a whole team of players for such a league. There has been little attempt or opportunity to develop hockey talent here in recent years. Out of the present Juvenile and Pee-Wee players a much better team can be envisioned for the future. However, it is doubtful if a town the size of Wainwright will ever be able to lead a team such as is required for competition in this league. We shall probably always have to depend upon a few imported players. But for the reasons stated, intermediate hockey seems to be advisable. Because of the expense involved, the management committee is taking a considerable risk. It has had to go further from home for its players than it had originally planned. But at last it seems to have a team that can win games, show the local players how good hockey is played, and serve as a stimulus to our younger players. It is now up to the fans to support the team and convince its sponsors that their faith in the community spirit of Wainwright is justified.

The Chamber of Commerce is thinking primarily of our young people when it embarks on such an ambitious project as operating the arena and organizing all hockey. The sponsors are particularly thankful for the assistance given. We can see the great advantages of placing the whole of the sport under one head. But the practical way in which we can all improve our appreciation is in turning out to the games in ever increasing numbers.

With the FIELD SUPERVISOR

By F. W. Maddex

I am asked on numerous occasions just what is the best make of sprayer to buy. I find this a very difficult question to answer, as there are a number of sprayers on the market today that are very capable of doing the job equally well. When buying a sprayer though there are a number of features to take into consideration, just the same as in buying a tractor or car. I have taken the liberty, on a request from the council and other raters, to publish a list of recommendations and items of interest to look for when purchasing a sprayer as recommended by the Third Western Canadian Weeds Control Conference held in Edmonton last fall. The list of recommendations for Sprayers and Dusters are elsewhere on this page.

There are three general types of sprayers developed and put on the market today. The trailer mounted machine, although its initial cost may be higher as compared to the other types, has a distinct advantage in that it may be pulled by any type of moving equipment. The self-mounted sprayer is usually a self-contained unit and may be used with trucks or placed on trailers which are now quite common in many farms. The tractor mounted unit, mounted directly on the tractor using the tractor power take-off as a source of power, represents a smaller investment for the farmer than do the previously mentioned types, and you are required to provide your own supply tank.

There are indications that a great number of sprayers and dusters are going to be purchased in the district this year. Probably you are one who is contemplating buying. Before doing so I would suggest you study the recommendations carefully and try to get the one that will do the best job. If at any time you are in doubt, and you think we can be of any assistance, please drop in and discuss the problem with us. The matter of the Municipality handling 4-D chemical in 1949 is still hanging fire and no definite decision has been reached. There are reports that the price of 4-D will be reduced this year almost 40%, is that the case then almost every body can afford to use 4-D.

THE YEAR'S TRAGIC RECORD

Two miners were recently killed in a cave-in in a coal mine at Blairmore. This is the second occurrence which attracted widespread sympathy.
During 1949 some 20 farmers were killed in tractor accidents in this province. If the 20 had been killed in one dreadful accident everyone would have been horrified yet these terrible accidents attract only a few lines in the daily newspapers. Tragic as a mine cave-in may be, nothing could be more horrifying than being run over by a farm one-way.

GROUND DUSTERS:

The hopper should be adequate in size with a rain proof cover and designed to prevent bridging of dust. Suitable agitation should be provided to supply a uniform flow of dust to the feeding mechanism. The feeding mechanism should be positive and accurate at all times and suitable for all rates of application and all speeds of travel. The physical make-up of the dust carrier should be standardized to ensure uniform feeding with all makes of dusts. The hopper and feeding mechanism must be designed so that it can be easily and completely cleaned.

The impeller or fan should be designed so that it can be readily serviced and should be provided with ample pulley and belt capacity.

The boom should have adequate strength and support to prevent breakage and twisting. The adjustment for height of the boom should be simple and durable. Booms should be supported on gauge wheels, preferably with low pressure tires.

A suitable marker is desirable.

THE POULTRY SITUATION

Anything that will reduce production costs at this time should commend itself to all poultry producers. One way to lower costs is to remove all culls and low producing birds from the flock. P. J. Higginson, Acting Poultry Commissioner, Alberta Department of Agriculture, reminds us that it takes the profit of several good birds to pay for the feed of one poor bird. These non-profitable birds are easily recognized if the flock is watched for a short time each day.

Unfortunately, some of our producers are considering disposing of their entire flocks due, they say, to the very low prices of eggs and the high cost of feed at the present time. In this respect Mr. Higginson points out that until recently poultry producers enjoyed very high prices and that this is no time for panic. Everything that can be done is being considered by all who are interested in the poultry industry. Representations have been made to Ottawa, and organizational work has started for an "Eat-More-Eggs" campaign to eliminate the surplus. On the basis of the 1949 production, if we can increase our per capita consumption one egg per person per week we would not have any exportable surplus. Mr. Higginson advises poultrymen to make every effort to reduce their production costs by continuing to properly feed and efficiently manage their flocks, and by all means to continue the program for chicks, etc., for 1950.

BOOM SPRAYERS:

The tractor mounted supply tank should have a capacity of 40 to 50 gallons. On small light tractors where the tank is mounted in the rear a low capacity tank is advised to avoid the possibility of accidents due to tractor rearing up on rough, uneven ground. Further, the tank should have a capacity of 100 gallons and upward. The tank should be provided with an accurately calibrated measuring stick. The tank should be of rust proof metal and not be painted inside. An independent drain and hand hole should be conveniently placed in the tank to facilitate cleaning. Further, the outlet to the pump should be slightly above the bottom of the tank.

Pumps should be made from non-corrosive materials; bronze gears and pumps are generally satisfactory and are recommended. An adequate packing gland is required on gear type pumps. The pump glands should be fitted with a suitable grease and hard type, water pump grease used. The pump should be of sufficient capacity and quality to maintain adequate working pressures. A pump of at least one inch outlet should also be employed where it is required to fill the tank. On machines where the pump is belt driven, the pump should be fitted with some auxiliary bearing other than the packing gland. Pumps should be designed to prime readily, preferably located in a low position in relation to the supply tank.

It is recommended that screens or filters should be provided at three points:

A. Between the tank and the pump.
B. A master filter between pump and boom.

C. At each nozzle outlet.
If the tank is likely to be filled by other means than the pump it should be equipped with a large intake screen or filter. The master filter should have ample filtering area and be easily removed for cleaning.

It should consist of either cloth or paper elements rather than screening. All filters should be easily accessible for cleaning, preferably with the use of wrenches. If screens are used in the nozzles their location should be well up in the boom to prevent clogging.

The pressure regulator should be automatic or if manual, within easy reach of the operator. Regulators should not be used as a by-pass when using the pump for tank filling.

The pressure gauges should read at least in two pound graduations, have at least a three inch face, one hundred pounds maximum, and be constructed to meet the Canadian Provincial Standards for Steam Boilers. The gauges should be mounted within easy view of the operator and should be located between the master filter and the boom.

A quick acting shut-off valve for the boom is essential and should be within easy reach of the operator. This valve should preferably be of the four way venturi type to prevent nozzles from dripping. Simple control valves for refilling, preferably of the three-way or four-way type, are recommended to simplify piping and control.

Power Supply—An engine of sufficient power to provide a reserve, essential to long life operation is recommended. The engine should be provided with an oil bath air-cleaner, dust proofing of magnetic and crankcase breather.

Booms should be constructed of corrosion proof material with adequate strength and supports to prevent breakage. There should be an adjustable for height, which should be simple and durable and adjustable from 18 to 42 inches.

A suitable fluid measure should be provided as an accessory and a standard method of calculation is recommended and should be adopted by all makers of machines and spray chemical manufacturers.

A suitable marker is desirable.

CHEMICAL CONTROL OF QUACK GRASS

The weed killed TCA (trichloroacetate) provides an excellent means of eradicating quack grass in and around fence lines, and it will be used to some extent in Alberta this year to control small patches of this weed in a variety of places. However, G. R. Sterling, Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control, Alberta Department of Agriculture, is doubtful of its value for large scale operations at the present time. At a price of 50¢ per pound, the cost to eradicate quack grass with TCA is around $45.00 per acre. Quack grass can be controlled much more cheaply by cultural methods. The cranes too will be better following cultural eradication of quack grass than when the chemical is used.

The main advantage of TCA is that it does not sterilize the soil for more than about 30 days. This is a comparatively short period as compared with the effects of Sodium Chlorate. Unlike Sodium Chlorate, TCA is not flammable, but since it will irritate the skin if it comes in direct contact, it must be used with a certain amount of caution.

duction costs by continuing to properly feed and efficiently manage their flocks, and by all means to continue the program for chicks, etc., for 1950.

NEWS NOTES

from your
Dist. Home Economist

Shelia M. Forrest, Ryley

Hello Homemakers:

Several weeks ago we were discussing laundry so now here are a few pointers on stain removal in non-washable fabrics. Just remember you can cut down cleaning bills considerably by using a few home devices for inbetween cleaning. A good sponge, spotting and press will keep your suits and dresses in use much longer and increase the time between trips to the cleaner.

Since carbon tetrachloride is our favorite spot remover I will first of all tell you how to use it. Carbon tetrachloride is a grease solvent so will remove all stains of a greasy nature, say the grease spot on a pair of soft white cotton cloth. Moisten cheesecloth or other material with 1 or 2 drops of carbon tetrachloride. Gently apply to grease stain. Please note that success follows light strokes, with a moist and not wet rubbing cloth. Note results and repeat if necessary. Keep dry and clean. It is absorbing the grease.

PROVINCIAL CREAM COMPETITION

Prizes provided by the United Grain Growers' Limited and the Alberta Dairyfarmers' Association (Producers section) will be awarded to winners in the Provincial Cream competition to be held previous to the Annual Dairy Convention. Entries for the competition must arrive in Edmonton by 9:00 a.m. Friday, January 27th. Shipments that arrive a day or so early will be placed in cold storage until judging commences.

The Provincial Cream Competition open to all cream shippers in Alberta, provides an excellent opportunity to show ability in production of a sweet, clean, high quality product. Competitors may submit either a 5 or 1 gallon can of cream with a minimum of 20 pounds of cream. The details of the competition with details of shipment and method of scoring can be had from local creameries.

He: "Yeah. I'd ask you for the next dance but all the cars are taken."

1st Man: "I don't like the 'new look' about women's clothes, do you?"
2nd Man: "Don't tell it to both of you. Women's styles may change, but their designs remain the same."

One business partner (to the other, on a fishing trip): "Gosh we forgot to close the safe!"
"What's the difference? We're both here, ain't we?"

Joe was poor, and Annie was ambitious. Sift told him she positively wouldn't marry him until he had a thousand dollars. The following day Annie's sour old maid aunt arrived for a long visit.

"Well dear," said Joe, when next he called "I've already thirty-five dollars."
"Well," replied Annie, "I guess that's near enough."

To the Editor:

In last week's issue of the Star-Chronicle comment to the effect that the League President's high-handed action in calling for action by Wainwright was termed poor sportsmanship, etc.

This is not in keeping with the facts of the recent fortunate hockey shake-up locally.

Last season Vegreville had no intermediate team, so they concentrated on developing a Juvenile Club, along with Midget, Pee Wee, etc. and as a result have a fine locally-developed team—a credit to the town's long standing recognition as a hockey town.

Mayor McClure, in accepting the Presidency of the Eastern Alberta Hockey League, sets a fine example that might readily be followed by other public officials and civil service and crown (including C.N.R.) employees.

When the matter was brought to his attention, by the Lloydminster hockey executive, that the fans just weren't coming out to see Commandos play (after carrying Wainwright during the past season) the President, before taking any official action in calling a League executive meeting, phoned Kenn Tord, the local Director of the League to find out what was going to be done. This is the very best executive procedure—to get the full information before calling a meeting to discuss the matter.

The local director talked bluntly to the Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting, being careful to explain that President McClure was acting in excellent good faith in thus bringing the matter to the local Director in the first instance. The subsequent phone call after the C of C meeting bears this out. Also each club pays exactly the same travel cost on a pool basis.

This correction is made public to correct the printed erroneous deductions of last week, and to assure President McClure of this Director's full confidence in his administration of League affairs to date, and as a personal compliment to Mayor McClure as a real sportsman, interested in the development of Canadian players in Canada's great national winter sport.

Wainwright Director
Eastern Alberta Hockey League.

Vine Preservers

For rust stains on white washable materials, spread the stained place over a vessel of actively boiling water, then squeeze lemon juice on the stain. After a few minutes remove the stain and repeat process. This is rather a slow method of removing the stain, but does not injure delicate white cotton or linen fabrics.

GERALD

The Farm Forum broadcast of Jan. 18th continued on the subject of the Law of Supply and Demand in connection with farm products. This produced an interesting discussion among the fourteen people present for the meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Deyell. Other topics discussed were falling prices for hogs and poultry, and the British dollar situation. Members explored the fact that there should be no surplus of food stuffs while two thirds of the world's population never get enough to eat. There seems no valid reason for not accepting payment in pounds, kronen or francs; or any other foreign money. Another topic discussed was the loss of the Old King Winter has had such a hold on the country for so long that everyone is glad to stay close to his own fireplace which helps to account for so little news at this time.

Mrs. A. Barhoff of Hope Valley has been a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Deyell for the past two weeks.

Little Judith McClennon has been staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Myggland since the New Year.

HEATH

Mr. Lloyd Davis was in Edmonton last week on business. While he was away his father Mr. L. Davis of Wainwright looked after the farm.

The new train service with only one local passenger train a day is quite a disappointment and we hope that it won't be long till the old schedule is resumed again.

Old King Winter has had such a hold on the country for so long that everyone is glad to stay close to his own fireplace which helps to account for so little news at this time.

ROSEDALE

The weather, lately, has been too cold for much activity, other than keeping on fire.

Word was received here of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Dreger (nee Geneva Zajic) of Edmonton.

A card party was held on Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tippler.

Mrs. Frank Zajic is spending some time in Edmonton visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. Dreger. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Zajic returned from Dreger's last week.

A few folks from the district attend the Wainwright-Lloydminster hockey game on Wednesday night.

LOCAL CURLERS HOLD CUP

On Wednesday afternoon last two of the local rinks, skippered by Stan Ryan and Ken Miller journeyed to Edmonton and brought back the Atlas cup that was won by Edgerton three days previous.

Both rinks won their game with the Miller rink winning a close 15-14 decision from Welch of Edgerton, and the Ryan four winning easily from F. Bannister's rink.

The boys were entertained to a hot lunch after the games, served by the Edgerton ladies, which was much enjoyed.

Two rinks from Irma challenged for the Atlas cup on Sunday afternoon, but failed to take it home, when both their rinks were defeated by scores of 15-8 and 15-6. Both games were close up to the tenth ends, when the local curlers pulled ahead, holding the cup for another challenge.

The visitors were entertained at the Buffalo cafe following the game.

SANITARY SERVICE

BOARDMAN OF NATIONAL HEALTH AND WELFARE

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jackson returned Monday from "Coronation" where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Jackson's brother, Gordon Wilson.

Several of the local boys who have been employed at the "scout" camp have left for Northern points where they will carry on with work they have been doing here. Among those who left Saturday for Whitehorse were Messrs. H. Pilgrim, C. Bainbridge, R. Bainbridge and T. Barnett.

Burns and Co. Ltd. shipping day is now each Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Lilly would like to thank the people of the community for their good wishes expressed in last week's Star-Chronicle, but would also like it to be known that a picture in the form of a prayer recently will be given to all interested friends, there fore there will be no need to purchase one. We feel that our going to the mission field is but our "reasonable service" Rom. 12:1-2 for the One who "loved us and gave Himself for us."

Please Note: As Wednesday night is again "Hockey Night in Wainwright" the card party to have been held in the Separate School Auditorium tonight, will be held tomorrow night instead.

EDMONTON JOURNAL

Owing to the Journal carriers wishing to take part in Saturday's hockey game at Vermilion, Saturday night's paper will be delivered on Sunday morning. We thank our customers for their indulgence.

NO HOUSE REMOVING THE MEANS TEST

OTTAWA—Until such time as we have a contributory old age pension, it is irresponsible to talk about the elimination of the means test," Health Minister Martin told the House of Commons.

The Minister was replying to a question put to him by Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) who took up the issue again.

"The Minister implied that it was irresponsible to request the removal of the means test because of the amount of money that it would cost."

"May I tell the Minister that he ought to direct remarks like that to members on his side of the House," Mr. Knowles said. "Practically every one of those members made it a plan in his election campaign that he would work for the removal of the means test."

Estimates Cost

The Minister gave the House the cost involved in various changes in the old age pension. "If we were to leave the basic pension at the present level of $40 a month and eliminate the means test completely, without lowering the age, the cost would be $300 million."

"To leave the old age pension at the basic rate of $40 a month and lower the age for women only to 64 would cost $291 million."

"To leave the pension at $40 a month and lower the age to 65 for men and women would cost $491 million."

"To put the pension at $50, lower the age and take away the means test, would cost $414 million," Mr. Martin stated.

Just An Excuse

Mr. Knowles returned to the Minister's discussion of a contributory plan: "I would like to say further with regard to this whole question of a contributory plan, that it seems to me that what we are getting now is the use of that phrase 'contributory plan' as an excuse for doing nothing."

"Some day we shall have to insist on a statement of policy from the government," Mr. Knowles went on, "as to what they mean by a contributory plan? Do they mean by it merely a plan for a few more items, or do they mean an overall plan? At the moment, the government is simply saying, we cannot take away the means test until we get a contributory plan and we cannot do that until we get an amendment to the B.N.A. Act, and we cannot get an amendment to the B.N.A. Act until we have several more conferences 'in other words,' declared Mr. Knowles, "we do not get the problem

Francis Craig left on Sunday night's train for Edson where he will be employed by the C.N.R.

The W.M.S. will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Pete Spady Friday, January 20th.

WORLD OF WHEAT

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

What does the New Year offer prairie farmers? This is the question now being widely asked. Different answers are being offered, but the truth is that no one can foresee the future. This world today is greatly confused and complicated, and to make matters worse, politics enter into the distribution and exchange of foodstuffs and commodities the world over. There are few matters that are not now highly controversial, but among them there is one thing with which everyone agrees, which is that people must eat to live. Those who have examined carefully the world foodstuffs situation are unanimous too in agreeing that there never has been, and is not today, sufficient food to supply the proper needs of all the people. This being so it certainly seems as though somehow or another, by some means, the valuable and precious high quality foodstuffs produced by prairie farmers will finally be made available to the hungry people of the world.

So it would seem that of all industries the production of food on these prairies should have as bright a future as any, provided always, of course that vision and wisdom are used, and that unrelenting work is put forth to explore the markets of the world for the sale of prairie products.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO

THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The world's rice harvest this year is estimated at some 7,600 million bushels, 3 per cent below last year's harvest of 7,800 million bushels, but slightly above the pre-war average of 7,500 million.

The world's corn production is now estimated at 5.7 billion bushels, according to the latest estimate. Although it is slightly smaller than last year's relatively small crop of 6 billion bushels, it is the second largest crop in history.

Under the International Wheat Agreement from August 1st to December 31st, 1949, a grand total of 44,164,000 bushels of wheat were sold including 35,087,000 from Canada.

GERMINATION TESTS NEEDED

According to a statement from the Agricultural Department of National Grain, many samples of wheat seed submitted by farmers for germination tests are testing below 75% in oats and barley the situation is even more serious.

Farmers are urged to have free germination tests made on their seed grain, to ensure satisfactory results with their 1950 crops.

National Grain officials emphasize that due to drought, second growth, hail and frost during the past growing season, tests this year indicate that a very serious seed condition exists in the Western Canada, particularly in the northern areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta, while many other districts are also showing poor results.

There is no charge made for germination tests. Farmers should take not less than 5-6 samples of their seed grain to the local National Grain Manager, who will forward the seed for testing.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

by Canadian Press

It has been a long time since the spectre of unemployment has appeared in Canada.

Through a full decade of war and the lush post-war boom, Canadians have become accustomed to steady employment and fat pay checks. Last week they clearly demonstrated that they wanted, and expected, the government to keep things that way.

Since the end of the Second War, there have been constant warnings by both labor leaders and politicians about the employment situation. Yet Canada's amazing post-war expansion each year gave the lie to pessimists. Canada's labor force grew to an all-time high.

But as Canada entered 1950 still lacking most of the whopping United Kingdom food and lumber contracts that had done much to stimulate employment in recent years, there were signs that the peak of employment might have been passed.

From Halifax to Vancouver labor leaders and civic officials began issuing loud appeals to the federal government to launch the vast program of works that has been held back for just such an emergency.

The loudest demand came in a joint letter from the leaders of Canada's two major labor congresses. The unusual fact of a united move by the rival Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor placed emphasis on their claim that a "national emergency" in unemployment demanded government action. It was the first joint letter they had issued in two years.

Jobs For Relief

The heads of the two congresses, with membership totalling some 810,000, called on the cabinet to put into effect its accumulated public works projects for unemployment relief and to take other measures if these failed to meet the situation.

They said their reason for believing from reports reaching their respective headquarters that more than 300,000 persons now are unemployed in Canada.

They also accused the government of withholding some unemployment figures from the public. Although the government still was making public national unemployment totals, labor sources said figures broken down by regions and municipalities had not been issued since last August.

At week's end there had been no official government reply to the joint letter. But the labor department issued a report containing that 361,000 persons were looking for work in Canada late last month.

In a review of the situation, the department said a "considerable portion of the current unemployment results from the continuing growth of the Canadian labor force rather than from any decline in employment."

To back up its statement, it pointed to a labor force at Dec. 23 of 5,500,000—the highest in history for this time of year.

"Over the past year, the growth of the total labor force has amounted to around 120,000, while the number actually at work has increased by close to 100,000," the department continued.

Woods Were Quiet

The increased unemployment, said the department, was partly due to a seasonal decline in industries such as construction. Declining timber and pulpwood markets also had prevented the logging industry from taking up the winter slack in employment.

The two areas hardest hit appeared to be British Columbia and the Maritimes. In B.C. 23,000 persons—nine per cent of the region's labor force—were looking for jobs. In the Maritimes 33,000—around seven per cent of the labor force—were in the hunt for employment.

Quebec was a little better off with a 5.5 per cent job-hunting figure, while Ontario and the prairies were in the best position with a 3.5 per cent figure. There was one piece of welcome news for job hunters as the week ended.

Addressing a meeting of the Quebec Industrial Commission in the capital, Alphonse Poirier, federal minister of public works, said the government plans to spend about $108,000,000 on public works this year.

That figure would be more than five times the $20,000,000 the government had laid out for public works in the year just ended.

At the same time Mr. Poirier said people should stop looking at the public works department simply as a stop-gap in times of depression. The department wanted to improve federal services during 1950 and "it is wrong for people to feel that we should only be needed in times of depression."

Unemployment was not the only dark shadow noted at Ottawa last week.

Stunty and frankly, Gen. H. D. G. Creer told Canada and the other democracies that they faced, because of Communism, "the threat of another great war in which this country will again be fully engaged."

In an address before the annual conference of defense associations, Creer, one of Canada's foremost military authorities, said Germany and Japan must be integrated with the Western democracies. In that step, he said, may lie the only hope the West has of "first holding and then dominating the growing and most serious Communist threat to peace."

The man who commanded the 1st Canadian Army in the Second World War, also said that:

1. The democratic peoples must not let emotion over past wars "blind us to the approach of worse catastrophes which lie ahead."

2. The seeds of another world struggle already had been sown at the end of the Second World War by the Yalta and Potsdam agreements and a military situation that, brought Russia half-way across Europe with her "fundamental antagonism" to democracy.

3. When consideration is given on a global basis to the over-all potential for war, "... the democracies are falling behind in this desperate race" because of events in Asia.

Robins, he says, are commonly supposed to cover the bodies of murdered persons with leaves. They are popular figures on Christmas cards, and English legend has them comforting

Dr. Lark says the earliest mention he found of them in literature is that one was supposed to have been tamed by a Scottish saint in the sixth century.

SHORT WINTER DRIVES HARD ON AUTOMOBILES

SASKATOON—This is the advice of Prof. E. A. Hardy, a winter-instruction expert, to motorists who want to save money.

It's more economical to take a street-car or a bus than to drive your car short distances when the weather is cold.

But if you do make short trips, make sure the temperature of the cooling system is brought up to normal—even if you have to drive around the block a few times before shutting off the motor.

Professor Hardy, of the engineering college at the University of Saskatchewan, gave these five rules for winter driving:

1. Have your car prepared for cold weather by changing to light grades for axles, transmission and steering column.

2. Have the engine tuned up for cold driving conditions, and install a high-temperature thermostat if necessary.

3. Test the storage battery and cables and replace them if they are worn.

4. Use a high-temperature anti-freeze, preferably with a glycol base.

5. Change to an engine oil which can be used in sub-zero weather, and drain the crankcase at least once in 100 miles.

NEED OF NOURISHMENT

No matter what our age or station in life we need a balanced diet to remain healthy and vigorous. Too much of one type of food and not enough of another will leave the body in need of nourishment even though we may eat heartily. A balanced diet is no more expensive. It is more varied, more pleasing and more tasty. And it keeps the body machine in good running order.

If Children changed parents every year, imagine the chaos of their upbringing. Yet, because of unattractive conditions, the turn-over in teachers continues - and they are trainers of the mind! A.T.A.

How can I save money?

That's what I asked the Government Annuity representative.

I was trying to balance the family books at the time and told him that, like most home-makers, I had so many places to spend my pocketbooks, my account was zero at the end of each month.

But He showed me a simple saving plan to provide on income in the future, that was as practical as a trip to the barber, and a plan which suited my budget.

Before you say—"It's a good idea, but I just can't afford it," talk it over with a CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITY representative, or write for information.

I'm glad I did!

CANADA'S JET FIGHTER READY FOR FIRST TRIALS

Canada's first jet fighter plane, the VF-100, has arrived its taxi-trials at Malton airport, near Toronto, preparatory to its first flight. The aircraft, built by Avro Canada for the R.C.A.F., is the first long-range all-weather fighter of its type. It is also the first front-line fighter to be designed in Canada and has a speed estimated to be higher than 600 m.p.h.

SATISFYING SOUPS

After a surfeit of holiday food, it may be difficult to tempt the family with simple and less expensive dishes. The secret lies in an aroma that coaxes the appetite and flavor to follow up.

The home economist of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, says that there is nothing like the fragrance of steaming soup to tempt the family on a cold winter evening. Creamy soups and chowders are really satisfying.

Vegetable Chowder
2 1/2 cups canned corn (1 1/2-cup can)
2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes (1-20 ounce can)
1 cup peas, beans or carrots (cooked or canned)
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
Cook vegetables with seasonings 5 minutes; add milk. Reheat and serve at once. Yield: six servings.

Cheese Soup
4 cups milk
2 or 3 slices onion
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup grated cheese
Scald milk with onion. Remove onion. Melt butter in top of double boiler and blend in flour; add hot milk and seasonings, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Cook 5 minutes. Add egg yolks then hot milk mixture to the beaten egg yolks then add to remaining hot mixture. Cook 1 minute and add grated cheese. Heat with rotary egg beater and serve at once. Yield: six servings.

Cream of Bean Soup
1 cup dried white (navy) beans
6 cups boiling water
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon fat
1 tablespoon flour
1 quart (5 cups) hot milk
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Soak beans in water to cover overnight. Drain, add the boiling water and simmer until tender, about 2 hours. If a pressure cooker is used, cook the soaked beans in water to barely cover for 50 minutes at 15 lb. pressure. Fry onion in fat until clear, add flour and blend well. Add hot milk, cooking and stirring until slightly thickened. Add drained, cooked beans and season with salt and pepper. Reheat and serve hot. Yield: six servings.

Onion Soup Supreme
2 cups onion rings
1/4 cup fat
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
2 bouillon cubes
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon catsup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Peel and slice onions thinly. Break into rings. Melt 2 tablespoons fat, and onion rings and cook until golden brown. Melt remaining fat, add flour and blend. Add milk and continue cooking, stirring constantly, until thickened. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water and add to cream sauce. Add onion and seasonings. Bring to boiling point and serve immediately, garnished with chopped parsley and sprinkled with finely grated cheese. Yield: six servings.

WEST FORECASTS DOBBIN'S DEMISE

SASKATOON—The horse is not here to stay—at least not in Saskatchewan.

Professor A. H. Ewan, head of the department of husbandry at the University of Saskatchewan, said recently that the present number of horses in the province ranges from 400,000 to 450,000. This is less than half the number used on Saskatchewan farms in 1931. At one time Saskatchewan farmers used approximately 1,000,000 horses, more than one-third of all the horses in Canada.

55 YEARS IN LAW MANITOBA JUDGE HIGHLY REGARDED

WINNIPEG—Judge Henry Walter Whittle, after a lifetime of legal experience, says he has no claim to distinction "unless it is that I do not play golf."

Many would disagree with him. The 75-year-old jurist retired recently after 18 years as senior County Court judge. Before that he spent 27 years in the law business. He was Winnipeg's first city prosecutor, back in 1898.

His experience as a permanent member of the Winnipeg police commission has convinced him the city has "one of the finest police forces in the Dominion of Canada."

White-haired but spry, Judge Whittle didn't think much of retiring, but "others have decided I need the rest—and maybe I do."

In the last year or so he specialized in criminal cases. He was noted for a deep concentration while listening to evidence, a firm and fair decision, and the overtones of sorrow with which he handed down sentence.

Modern criminals seem to like prison, he says readily. "They no sooner come out there than they are sent back."

Work Goes On

For him retirement is not the end of his active days in legal work.

"I am seriously considering opening an office for consultation purposes," he says. "But I do not think I shall go back into private practice again."

Judge Whittle is shocked by the city's accident and traffic fatality rate, which he terms the "worst on the North American continent."

He confesses he doesn't know the answer, but "we have a good traffic commission and it will undoubtedly work something out."

Judge Whittle was born in Monaghan, Ireland, in 1874. He came to Canada in 1902, graduated from Wesley College in 1905, and was admitted to the bar in 1906. He was appointed senior County Court judge for the eastern judicial district of Manitoba in 1935.

"Of his career, one member of the legal profession remarked: "Few Judges have been so highly regarded by the practicing lawyer."

AUSSIE FARM WIFE MAKES MODEL HOME

INVERELL, Australia—An Australian country woman who describes her self as "just an ordinary farmer's wife" is an expert home economist, gardener, color and dressmaker.

She is Mrs. L. G. Faint, who came with her husband to a rough three-roomed cottage at Avonlea here about 30 years ago. They began with few material comforts in this outback settlement more than 300 miles north of Sydney.

Today Mrs. Faint and her husband, a First World War veteran, live in a modern home with vine-covered, enclosed verandahs to keep out the winter cold and the summer heat.

A skilled and efficient housewife, Mrs. Faint has made her home an example of Australian farm life at its best.

The household always has plenty of meat, since the farm raises fat lambs. The family's three daughters, Peggy, Gwendoline and Barbara, raise 400 fowl under their mother's expert guidance.

Cows provide abundant milk and cream; the garden produces magnificent roses as well as fine vegetables. Mrs. Faint's orchard yields fruit for her shelves of preserves with always some to spare for her charitable activities.

One of her major interests is the 30,000-member Country Women's Association, which is dedicated to improving conditions for women and children in country districts. Mrs. Faint is president of the Inverell branch.

Besides all these household and community activities, Mrs. Faint still finds time to make her own and most of her daughters' clothes. When daughter Peggy was married recently, mother and daughters made the entire trousseau, the bride gown and bridesmaids' frocks. Then Mrs. Faint made an artistic bridal bouquet and a three-tiered cake which would have been a credit to a professional chef.

It is of Dobbin, Professor Ewan said, is the present price level. In the early 70s a team of horses could easily bring $500 to $600. The same team today would bring a high price if it sold for $200.

U.K. ROAD CAMPAIGN SEEKS CHILD SAFETY

LONDON—The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents has launched its Britain-wide children's safety campaign for 1950 with the slogan "On Guard—Children!"

The society's 17 accident prevention federations, which are linked thousands of road safety committees, have all pledged support in reducing the heavy toll of children killed and injured on the roads.

The ministry of transport has arranged a national children's safety week during March with the co-operation of the ministry of education.

Teachers and police will support the 12-month campaign. The society has prepared a wide range of new material for use by local authorities, including posters which feature Walt Disney's Donald Duck and Muffin the Mule of BBC television.

Though the 1949 figures are not yet complete, it was announced that at the end of nine months child deaths were 42 less than in the corresponding period in 1948 but child injuries were higher. Three-quarters of all child pedestrians killed were under seven years of age and most of these deaths resulted from collisions with heavy vehicles, trucks and buses.

"The modern slaughter on the roads has one thing in common with Herod's massacre. It is the very young who suffer most," observed Richard Llewellyn, president of the society.

Sports Camera

When strait-laced Toronto pulled up her skirts a bit New Year's Day and voted to permit Sunday sport, the rest of the country sat up and looked.

And well they did, for the actual victory in the plebiscite, which asked if citizens were "in favor of the city of Toronto seeking legislation to make amateur, professional and other forms of commercialized sport legal on Sunday," didn't go to the group seeking a "yes" vote. This victory went to sport itself.

The Queen City known throughout North America for its conservative ways and traditions was the second Ontario city within a month to decide it would like organized athletic competition on Sunday afternoons.

Windsor previously had voted in the same way, although the "yes" faction there came out even stronger. The Border City's citizens voted almost 2-1 for Sunday sport while in Toronto the margin was much closer, 58,108 voting "yes" and 51,793 voting "no."

But in this closeness itself the attraction of sport was shown. The majority and board of control campaigns were taken for granted. It was the Sunday sport issue that brought the voters in record numbers.

Hacking Did It
"I spent a week-end in Toronto on Sunday," said "You can shoot a cannon down the main street there on a Sunday without hitting anyone," were common jokes among visitors to the city.

Perhaps it was this mild form of heckling that made Torontonians break with tradition or perhaps it was

ADOPT HOLLANDER

Mrs. Marie Jamieson, 53, of Brantford, who has adopted Jan Lemers, a 28-year-old Dutch farmer because in 1945 the Hollander cared for her son's grave at Groulx, near Nijmegen. Lemers wanted to emigrate to Canada but hadn't enough money. He will manage Mrs. Jamieson's farm, the job planned for Cpl. Harold Jamieson.

just that sport has become so strong a factor in most lives that people want it—even on their day of rest.

We prefer to think the latter because the citizens who most needed something to do on a Sunday afternoon didn't even have a vote.

Most young persons and those living in single rooms didn't have a say in the matter because those eligible to vote were tenants or owners of property assessed at $400 or more. They also had to be 21 years old. Most persons living in rooming houses, however, because their assessment seldom reached $400. Also persons living with their parents were ineligible unless they qualified as tenants or owners.

It was the property owners, the taxpayers and the parents who voted for sport on Sunday—as long as it didn't conflict with church hours.

Sport, the word is, for not a thing was said about movies, cooked haws or any other form of entertainment. If one of these had been included there would be few who wouldn't bet life savings on a different verdict from the voters.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
by Don Graham

You are unique!
Yes, it's a fact that there has never been and never will be anyone just like you in the world. Your own particular combination of gifts, aptitudes, likes, and dislikes, and other personal characteristics cannot be duplicated.

But are you encouraging your individuality?
Too many people allow their personalities to be moulded like the products of this mass-production age. They conform to standard patterns of thinking and living. Even in their dress they follow slavishly the dictates of fashion.

When such people conquer their fear of what others will think and stand at the mental balance that makes them imitators, they are transformed overnight.

The methods are simple. We can practice self-expression by not repeating the opinions of others or adopting them unthinkingly as our own. More important, we can be original in everything from our conversation to the way we decorate our homes. There are countless outlets for our individual talents which can help give our personality a unique "flavour".

Finally we should have some definite ideas about our goals in life and the kind of people we want to be. Then our true selves can really emerge!

Every family, too, is unique. And each has its own particular set of needs for income in the future. That is why the services of the life insurance representative are so helpful in planning a program designed to meet those needs.

The methods are simple. We can

Chauvin Students Hold Amateur Hour

January 27th, 1950 promises to be a big evening in Chauvin, when the local High School Students' Union are sponsoring an Amateur Hour in the Legion Hall, Chauvin, commencing at 8 p.m.

There will be four classes, as follows: — and under; 9 to 14; 15 to 18; and 19 and over, for which four first prizes of $4.00 will be awarded. There will also be four second prizes of $4.00.

The affair promises to be one of great interest and entertainment, and entries are to be sent to Miss Jean Parsons before 6 p.m. January 25th.

Only 50 entries will be acceptable, and therefore it will be the first 50 to be accepted. The admission for adults will be 25c, and for students, 10c.

A big dance will follow the program with good music. The admission to the dance will be 10c, each.

During the evening a door prize of $10.00 will be awarded. Be sure to be on hand for this event in Chauvin, and remember the date is January 27th.

PARADISE VALLEY

The bitter cold weather of the past few weeks has curtailed all sport and other activities here. Very few have been able to make use of the skating rink. Curling is about all that is going on and even some games have been called off. At the time of writing it is the intention to hold the inter-school bonspiel at McLaughlin. Seven rinks from here have entered.

Meany F. Rayson, O. Bonning, G. Arnshaw and P. Stoddart made the trip to Wainwright on Wednesday to take part in the big Legion bonspiel, the last one in the final to win the winning trophy for the first two games from Chauvin and Irma.

Bill Kostuk our local barber returned on Thursday after spending his Christmas at his home at Smith Lake.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Andrzejak, local C.P.R. Station agent is being transferred to Inuvik, Sask. During their short stay in Paradise Valley they both made many friends who wish them well in their new home.

We regret to hear of the death at Victoria of one of Paradise Valley's old timers in the person of T. H. Sawyer. Mr. Sawyer passed away on Tuesday, Jan. 10th. He leaves a widow and two sons. To them we extend our sympathy. His family are in Morris homebased in this district in the early days and shared all the hardships of the early settlers. Those were the days of the cold and the long, long trek to Lloydminster for supplies. So by one of the pioneers are passing on. They did their share in settling the district.

Miss Paula and Miss Eda returned this holiday after spending the Christmas holidays at Camrose and Athabasca.

Mr. Robert Stewart spent a few days at home the last of the week visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stewart. "Bob" plans on getting down North to Port St. John to start up a office of his own. Good luck, Bob.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLean left for Vancouver to spend the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gunn have gone to Edmonton for the balance of the winter.

EDINGLASSIE

The annual meeting of the Edinglassie Social Society was held at the school on January 11th with a record crowd of ten present—and that's not to be laughed at considering weather and roads. To start the excitement we had a frozen radiator and a car stalled in the gate. Ask Billie Petrie how he got around with a car that's been indisposed since Christmas—answer, it's that "Good Neighbor Policy".

Back to our meeting—it was with regret that the officers of 44 would not accept another term in the Edinglassie S.S.

Bella Petrie and a friend also trained at Lament spent a brief but welcome holiday at home. Bella received her cap last week and we understand that Minnie was there to witness the ceremony. Congratulations, Bella!

Moved by U. Mew that L. Allen be chairman.

Moved by W. Petrie that L. Gibb be secretary.

Minutes of the organization and general meetings were read and adopted on motion of W. Petrie and E. Pitman.

Financial statement was read and adopted on motion of Pitman and Mew.

The President reported that the Board had decided on a membership fee of 50c for adults and 25c for those under 21 years.

Moved by W. Petrie that Mr. and Mrs. L. Allen and Mr. G. Gibb be granted free membership for services rendered. Cd.

A vote of thanks was given to the retiring officers.

Moved by Y. Mew that meeting adjourn.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Albert Burton who passed away on January 13, 1949. I cannot say, and I will not say, That he is dead—he is just away!

With a cheery smile, a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair, It needs must be, should he linger there, And you—O you, who the widest years For the old-time step, and the glad return,

Think of him faring on, as dear In the love of there, as the love of Here,

Think of him as the same, I say He is not dead—he is just away!

Ever remembered by MILDRED, HAROLD, and CHILDREN.

THESE CANUCKS ARE PLAYING GAMES ALREADY!

Blenor McKenzie, sprinter, who was named the outstanding Canadian athlete of 1949 by the Women's amateur athletic federation of Canada, gets a snowball-face-washing from Swimmer Irene Strong, whom she beat out of the title by one vote. Kibbling took place just before the girls left Vancouver, B.C., for semi-tropical Auckland, N.Z., and the British Empire games to be held, Feb. 4-11.

WEDDING BELLS

McLeod — PERKINS

Knox Presbyterian Church was the scene of an early afternoon wedding ceremony recently when Miss Edna May Perkins, daughter of Mr. Alfred Perkins and the late Mrs. Perkins of Chauvin, Alberta, exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Donald John McLeod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McLeod of Irricana.

Rev. J. W. Goward officiated at the nuptials in which the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George E. Perkins.

For her wedding the bride wore a turquoise blue rayon gabled ensemble complemented with a cap of blue ostrich tips and a corsage of tea roses. Her only jewelry was the bride-sroom's gift of a gold bracelet.

Attending the bride couple were Mr. and Mrs. Ben McLeod, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas MacLean where the hostesses presided at the coffee urns. Assisting in serving were Miss Jean McLeod, Miss Shirley McLeod, Miss Doris Latourel and Miss Ruth Watt.

Bridal toasts were proposed by Mr. G. E. Perkins and Mr. Ben McLeod. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod spent their honeymoon in Banff and have now taken up residence in Calgary.

The bride's going-away ensemble was a white tulle frock with matching accessories and a muskrat coat.

He poured a pitcher of water out the window and slid down the icicle to safety.

will be loaned to member clubs of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

The aircraft will be subject to recall to the RCAF in the event of an emergency. Assuming an order for 40 planes, investment in the plan would range $400,000 to $500,000. The Chipmunks probably will be fitted with the latest equipment including allied flying instruments, VHP radio, navigation lights and landing lights, the mag axle reported.

At the time of publication it was indicated that the plan had received approval of the RCAF Air Council and was awaiting the signature of the Minister of National Defence.

CLEAR LAKE F.W.U.A. The December meeting of the Clear Lake F.W.U.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Morton Herbert. This being the annual meeting the election of officers came up but the same officers were nominated. Mrs. James Bartlett donated a turkey to be raffled. Lucky number to be drawn at the next meeting.

The meeting was adjourned and a lovely lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Bartlett. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Bartlett.

The January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. N. Bartlett. The weather being so cold only five members were present. The lucky ticket was drawn Mrs. J. Magellan being the winner.

A letter was received from the Health F.W.U.A. asking the group to attend a picture shown by our Health Nurse in Canada.

Free demands on the provincial government for a substantial out in motor car license fees will be made by the Alberta Motor Association.

At its recent annual meeting in Edmonton, the A.M.A. decided to make further representations to the provincial authorities on the pending lower license fees. The resolution urges the province to put Alberta fees more in accordance with those elsewhere in Canada.

Alberta now has the highest license fees in the Dominion. It is contended by the A.M.A. that motorists are fully entitled to a substantial reduction.

As the provincial budget for the next fiscal year which opens on April 1, 1950, now is in course of preparation, the A.M.A. will make known its request to the provincial authorities with out delay.

In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1950, the provincial revenues from motor vehicle license fees were in excess of $1,000,000. This included $478,878 from automobile and truck license and $521,122 from the Fuel Oil Tax Act or gasoline tax. The latter item was $1,577,567 more than had been estimated.

This year, with registrations largely increased, it is apparent that the province will collect more than $5,000,000 from motor vehicle license alone.

The A.M.A. says it is time this high license rate was reduced.

CLIFFE Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hanson and family returned home after visiting the latter's parents at Unity during the festive season.

Mrs. K. Hannah is a patient in Lloydminster Hospital and we hope to see her home soon.

The Nelson Bros. of Lloydminster were guests at their cousins home, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanson.

Visiting at her daughter and son-in-law home, Mr. and Mrs. G. Budd and family.

Young People's held their meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of Wainwright with Dr. Rhodes as guest speaker, who gave instructions on artificial respiration. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in contest and games.

Elmo took to the air on Sunday, piloting his dad to the Three Hills where he will help with the saw mill.

Local Legion Announces Officers For New Year

Chauvin Branch of the Canadian Legion held the annual meeting and election of officers on Wednesday the 11th of January. In spite of very severe weather there was a fairly good turnout, some of the country members having driven many long miles to attend.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of the retiring President W. O. Spence. Officers elected for the ensuing year were President Lyle Miller, First Vice President Donald Perkins, Second Vice President Charles Diamond, Recording Secretary Donald Saul. The Legion Trustees were re-elected as a body, they being Lyle Miller, Donald Perkins and Donald Saul.

The annual financial statement presented to the meeting indicated that considerable money had been spent in improvements to the hall during the year. It also showed a general strengthening of the financial standing of the Branch.

NAME A PRESS REPORTER NOW

This is the time of year when the various organizations in the town and district are nominating and electing officers to serve for the ensuing year.

The Star-Chronicle has urged before that all organizations whose meetings and activities are of interest to the general public appoint a press secretary and we again emphasize the importance of every organization having such a person, whose job it is to see that the activities of the club or association be represented to the press.

Some organizations co-operate admirably in this respect. Others expect the newspaper to have a reporter at every one of their meetings and to constantly keep in touch with their activities—a job well nigh impossible when one stops to think just how many different organizations there are in Wainwright and district.

The Star-Chronicle tries to cover the more important public meetings but limitations of staff and time make this difficult to attempt all. A meeting might take two or three hours some evening may only take a short space in the paper, say yet we would like to see that the meeting is reported.

Other weeklies have the same trouble and are making the same request of the various organizations in the particular districts—name a press reporter to record and turn in the main highlights of a meeting. It is necessary that such a representative be prompt in reporting the value of timely publicity won't be lost. Pick the best person you can to do the job and have him or her turn in the news of your meetings and other activities by letter or if necessary, by phone.

If we know the news we'll print it so let's have it!

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Congratulations to John Taylor who celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday last Saturday. Mr. Taylor is at present visiting his son Everett in the city.
Last week Mrs. A. M. Sawyer received the news of the death of her brother-in-law, Humphrey Sawyer, who died at West Haven, Victoria, B.C. Mr. Sawyer, who was brother of the late James Sawyer, homesteaded in the Farnside Valley district in 1910. He is survived by his wife and two sons.
A rink representing the Edgerton Branch of the Canadian Legion went to Wainwright to play in the Legion Provincial Hockey League. The rink was Glen Neff, skip; Gordon Jackson, Garnet McMillan and Gordon Constable. They lost.

Ronnie Hallett is in Wainwright hospital.
The crib tournament shows that luck is not always with the expert. The contest is going well, but you are asked to complete the first round as soon as possible.

Mrs. M. Montgomery's father and sister, Mr. H. Nymanski and Mrs. Bodnaruk, both of Winnipeg, visited her at the Palm Hotel last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKay left for Winnipeg on business on Monday's flyer.
Mr. Mel Nichol is a business visitor to Saskatoon.

The financial statement of the Edgerton and District Board of Trade has been carried over to the Charivari back page (page 12), due to lack of space.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Sawyer of Edgerton, Alberta, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Althea Mildred Mae to L.A.C. Clarence Wirtz of Aulaville, Ont. The wedding will take place at St. Mary's Church, Edgerton, March 3rd, 1950.

CAL ARCHER RE-ELECTED PRES. EDGERTON BOARD OF TRADE

The annual meeting of the Edgerton and District Board of Trade was held in the Palm Hotel, Edgerton, on Tuesday, January 10th. Before the meeting twenty-nine members sat down to an excellent dinner provided by Mrs. M. Montgomery.

Mr. C. D. Archer took the chair for the dinner and annual meeting. He opened by saying that although the past year had been a successful one on the whole, a certain lack of co-operation from a few of the tradesmen slowed down progress considerably, and hoped for a better year in 1950, for as he said the ideas and suggestions of every individual were of great importance in promoting the well being of the town and district.

Following the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last annual meeting and the presentation and adoption of the balance sheet, the chairman called for nominations for president for 1950. Nominated were Mr. C. D. Archer, the retiring president, Mr. G. I. Sawyer, Mr. R. P. Harkness and Mr. W. R. Challenger. Following the ballot Mr. C. D. Archer was declared president. Mr. G. I. Sawyer was nominated vice-president and nominations calling was declared elected. The Rev. W. D. Wilby was re-elected secretary. It was decided to appoint four committees to deal with certain aspects of the Board of Trade work. It was decided to appoint four committees to deal with certain aspects of the Board of Trade work. It was decided to appoint four committees to deal with certain aspects of the Board of Trade work.

The Sports Committee was re-appointed. The Public Works Committee, Messrs. J. W. Darby and Geo. Woodbridge volunteered to serve as committeemen; the Public Works Committee, Messrs. J. W. Darby and Geo. Woodbridge volunteered to serve as committeemen; the Public Works Committee, Messrs. J. W. Darby and Geo. Woodbridge volunteered to serve as committeemen.

A vote of thanks to the 1949 officers was proposed by Mr. L. W. Darby seconded by Mr. R. Crane and carried. A vote of thanks was proposed from the chair to Mr. G. Sawyer for his kindness in housing the meeting in 1949 and to Mrs. M. Montgomery for the manner in which the Board had been entertained that evening.

The meeting adjourned at 9:50 p.m.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

In reply to the letter that appeared in the Edgerton Enterprise last week regarding some of the boys playing hockey with the Wainwright Warriors and the expenses to those concerned.

I think that if the writer would come out in person and make some suggestions or come to those sportsmen that the writer is referring to, and if the cause is justified I think that the sportsmen of this Village would support it to the limit.

Any hockey player or sportsman who stops and thinks knows that this game like any other game of sport costs money privately as well as publicly. I wish that the writer would come out with something constructive rather than pass the buck.

Anonymous Johnson Edgerton, Alberta

er than pass the buck.

I would also like to mention that I think that if a letter of this nature is worth writing for publication, that it is worth a signature.

BOB MCKAY

The Good Lord gave us all a name So that he could track each one of us. A lot of folks they got the same And thousands got "Anonymous" It's commonly called a coward's trick To state your "best" without your name. Some folks think they're pretty slick To keep folks wondering "Who's to blame?" So if you want your "press" to publish What you've got to kick about State your case AND your "John Henry" Then we all can "Have it out!" Anonymous Johnson Edgerton, Alberta

"There are three mighty important reasons why my John Deere Equipment goes to a John Deere Dealer for reconditioning. First, I benefit from the skill of his trained mechanics, schooled in servicing methods recommended by John Deere. Second, his shop is well-equipped with up-to-date precision equipment. His mechanics have the tools to do the work right. Third, he uses only genuine John Deere Parts, which are made to fit and wear like the originals they replace. Thus, it's a three-way assurance of work well done . . . economically done." It will pay you to consider the important servicing advantages we offer. See us soon for complete details.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

Mrs. Bob Miller was a visitor to Edgerton for a few days last week.

LOCAL NOTES

Mrs. Fred Hindehaw is a patient in the Wainwright hospital this week and she is wished a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Saker of Newbrook, Alta. were week-end visitors coming up by bus and driving home in their new 1/2 ton Chev. truck, purchased from Miller's Garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross McGillivray of Edgerton visited his sister Mrs. Ervin Dahl last Wednesday.

Mrs. J. McMullen (née Velma Reinhardt) of Edmonton has been visiting her parents for the past week.

Mrs. Wahlberg visited her husband in the Wainwright Hospital on Sunday.

Billie Petrie left by train Saturday night for Wainwright where he plans to attend Agricultural School.

Mr. J. A. Saker left for the States on Sunday where he plans to spend the winter.

ARTLAND

Mr. T. W. Scott and Mrs. C. T. Dell were the lucky winners of the two hockey pools last Saturday.

Miss Ethel Wright visited the week end at her parental home.

Our curlers were pleased to have a visiting rink from Neilburg arrive on Friday despite the cold weather to try out our new rink. The Neilburg rink was composed of Mr. L. E. Gibbons, Clifford Logan, W. Gordon and J. S. Dell. The Artland rink was Mr. C. T. Dell, Allan Scott, W. Scheffer and Geo. Paterson. Our boys were fortunate on the scoring. No explanations given. Thanks to the ladies for the sandwiches and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Scott returned from Saskatoon with a new Pontiac.

Our train service has been cut. Train No. 11 from the east will arrive Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Train No. 12 from the west arrives Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at the usual time.
